Vote YES Tuesday

For the first time since 1958, when the Redevelopment Agency was created in Seaside, the citizens have an opportunity to gain some control over its destiny. Since its inception, the Agency has been controlled by an appointed commission answerable only to the special interest that appointed them-Mayor Haddad.

The citizens of Seaside will have an opportunity June 1 to decide whether the city attorney, who was fired and who has been charged with legal malpractice, fraud and breach of trust, should continue in the capacity of legal counsel for that same Redevelopment Agency.

We all have seen the growth of the financial power of the agency to the point where its resources dwarf the operation of the city itself. It becomes virtually independent of the city once its projects have been funded. Instance of its independence are available. The two most recent of these are the denial of the vacant Gateway project land to the Young Adults for Action for use as a Mini-Bike operation and its punitive denial of the use of the area for a carnival over the July 4 weekend.

These arbitrary and capricious were consistent with "the public be damned" posture of the agency. Both were done on the advice of Attorney Weingarten. They were slaps at the City Council which had voted earlier this year to assume policy control of the Redevelopment Agency. They were done by the city attorney, the council fired last year. As he continues, as agency attorney, to harass and frustrate, he makes it clear that he is the "de facto" city boss with the power and privilege of the legal system to thwart the public purpose of the community represented by the council. This impasse shows that in spite of firing this attorney last fall, he continues to exist like the Agency itself, immune to council efforts to control that free-wheeling financial empire.

His honor, the mayor, took us to task in the "Haddad House Organ" recently and lectured about the "genius" of the Urban Renewal accomplishments, citing the growth of the assessed valuation in Seaside, since 1958.

We were particularly told by "his honor" to see him if we wanted the "straight" facts.

We decided to get ALL the facts pertinent to his proposition and compare the assessed valuation of all of the major cities in the County from 1960 to 1970 to see how Seaside had grown and to see how Haddad and his regime's claim of public "genius" stand up to the actual evaluations. The following table is starting:

COMPARATIVE ASSESSED VALUATION
City	1960	1970	Growth
Salinas	$62,587,000	$126,830,000	101%
Carmel	$14,055,000	$27,607,000	97%
Monterey	$34,814,000	$68,408,000	99%
Pacific Grove	$15,202,000	$25,895,000	70%
SEASIDE	$16,945,575	$25,909,745	53%

(Figures furnished by Donald P. Stewart, County Assessor).

Seaside, in spite of the $15,000,000 Urban Renewal money has the lowest growth rate in the County - even lower than Pacific Grove??? In spite of $15,000,000 Seaside's growth rate barely exceeds the growth rate of inflation.

Seaside Ripples

A. E. 'Andy' Barragan, Publisher

Most of the arguments for a YES vote in the referendum election which will be held June 1, are contained in the above editorial.

We have consistently pointed out the main factor involved in the council assuming the duties of the Urban Renewal Agency. That factor is "local control" by the elected representatives of the voters of Seaside. In spite of any arguments to the contrary, the Agency members are appointed by one man-Mayor Lou Haddad in this case. True, the council must approve the appointments, but, if it doesn't approve them the old member of the Agency remains until the council does approve an appointment made by the mayor. So that leaves it solely up to the mayor to make the appointments.

The council cannot make any appointments. It can only approve those appointed by the Mayor. The State Legislature saw the dangers of this type of dual government and, last year, enacted a law which permitted a city council to become the Urban Renewal Agency for its city. Evidently many California cities were suffering enough from this dual type of government that the state had to step in and enact a law to correct the situation.

The problem in Seaside is just that. Do we want, or even need, an appointed agency telling the voters of Seaside what they can or cannot do. It is that simple. Vote yes on June 1.

A.E. Barragan

Kendall Plans Are Submitted

Plans of Kendall Motor's new 10,000-square foot showroom and service area, to be located in Seaside's Gateway Center, have been submitted to the architectural review board of the Redevelopment Agency.

Construction of the new facility, which is to be located across from Wester Volkswagen is expected to begin in 90 days.

Another facility in the center--a 2,250-square foot service station at Fremont and Olympia for Standard Oil Company -- has just begun construction.

Parade Keeps Growing and Growing

The annual Seaside Fourth of July Parade, which a few short weeks ago seemed destined to oblivion, now appears to be the largest Independence Day Parade in the State. At least that what Glenn Maguet, parade director, says.

Maguet, unemployed as a result of the cutbacks in the aerospace industry, was appointed director by City Councilman Jerry McGrath, who took over chairmanship of the parade when the Seaside Chamber of Commerce withdrew its traditional sponsorship.

Perhaps one of the world's last "honest-to-goodness" parade connoisseurs, Maguet, who lives in Redwood City, came here to offer his services as parade consultant when he heard there might not be a parade this year. In the short time he has been at work, he has lined up more than 200 out-of-town entries, all of which are eligible to earn points in the statewide competition.

Eight bands, including the Fort Ord Band and Color Guard and the 180-piece Long Beach Concert Band, last year's state champions, are entered in the parade. Also entered are the Rincon Riders of Santa Rosa, three times grand national champions. There will also be at least 20 classes for horses, section and bugle corps and 10 professional floats.

Sponsoring organization for the parade is the Seaside Parade Organization, which was set up by McGrath. It is a non-profit organization consisting of McGrath, Linda Bissett, Young Adults For Action-Director Lee Toler, Postmaster Earle Flaws, Seaside Recreation Director Cleveland Williams and Fred Griffith.

The Peninsula Toastmaster will act as announcers for the parade. Other organizations offering their help include YAF, which will serve as marshalls; the Slow Pokes car club, assistants in parade management and the citizen's band radio group, for communications.

This year's parade, which has "American Heritage" as its theme, will be strictly invitational.

Brown Jr. To Speak At Dinner

Edmund G. Brown, Jr., California's outspoken Secretary of State, will speak at a dinner sponsored by the Monterey Democratic Women's Club on Friday, June 4.

The public is invited to attend the function which will be held at the Pacific Grove Community Center, 515 Junipero.

A cocktail hour, starting at 6:30, precedes the 7:30 dinner.

Reservations may be made by calling Frances Bowen, 624-8841; Frances Anderson, 375-1105 or Nancy Olsen, 659-4428.

Wants Review Of Pollution Measures

Assemblyman Bob Wood has introduced a legislative resolution asking the State Water Resources Control Board to review existing water pollution prevention measures around oil storage and transfer facilities.

Wood said that "while a catastrophic tanker collision or offshore well blowout represent the most dramatic sources of oil pollution, it would be a mistake to assume that they are the only sources. The spillage of oil or other hazardous substance occurs anywhere and everywhere along the production-market chain."

Wood cited mishandling in the production plant, improper loading and unloading procedures and storage facility failures as "more common, but less publicized" sources of oil pollution.

Heatings on oil pollution in California held by the Assembly Committee on Environmental Quality found that one-third of the oil spilled in California annually originated in the industrial or governmental transfer of oil.

Wood, who is vice chairman of the Committee on Environmental Quality, said that "the extent of such non-catastrophe-related spillage focuses attention on the need to take preventive action along the entire flow route of petroleum products and not merely on one or two specific links in the chain."

In a related resolution, Wood asks the Water Resources Control Board to assume responsibility as the central state depository for all data relating to oil spillage in California.

Dial-A-Gripe Rings Again

Seaside Dial-A-Gripe will hold its next Public Forum on Wednesday, May 26, at 8 p.m., at Seaside City Hall Council Chambers.

The session will be in the form of a debate and will concern the question of whether the Seaside City Council should take over the duties of the Seaside Urban Renewal Agency. The City Council had voted 4 to 1 to make this change. However, the ordinance is delayed by petitions filed by Pete Gruz and Al Lioi. The petitions resulted in a referendum which will be held on June 1.

The Debate will certainly touch on the merits of Urban Redevelopment itself, as well as its value in this community.

Questions are being gathered. Five questions in favor and five questions opposed to the City Council action will be presented at the time of the Forum. Answers pro and con will follow each question at two minute intervals in debate format.

The chairman or vice-chairman of the Human Relations Commission will be the moderator. Judging will be by means of the Referendum on June 1.

City Councilmen Jerry McGrath, Pearl Carey, Oliver Murray and Stephen Ross will present the case for the Council taking over the administration of the Agency.

Invited to speak against the ordinance are Cruz and Lioi as well as Merfield Beck, chairman of the Urban Renewal Agency, the other members of the Agency and Mayor Haddad.

At stake is the administration of the city's fur Redevelopment Projects: Hannon, Del Monte Heights, Gateway and Laguna Grande.

Unlike the previous Forum, this Dial-A-Gripe session will be primarily a debate. Questions for the debate can be phoned to Nancy McClintock before the time of the debate.

Following the debate, further questions and comments are invited, first from Seaside residents and then from other interested persons.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

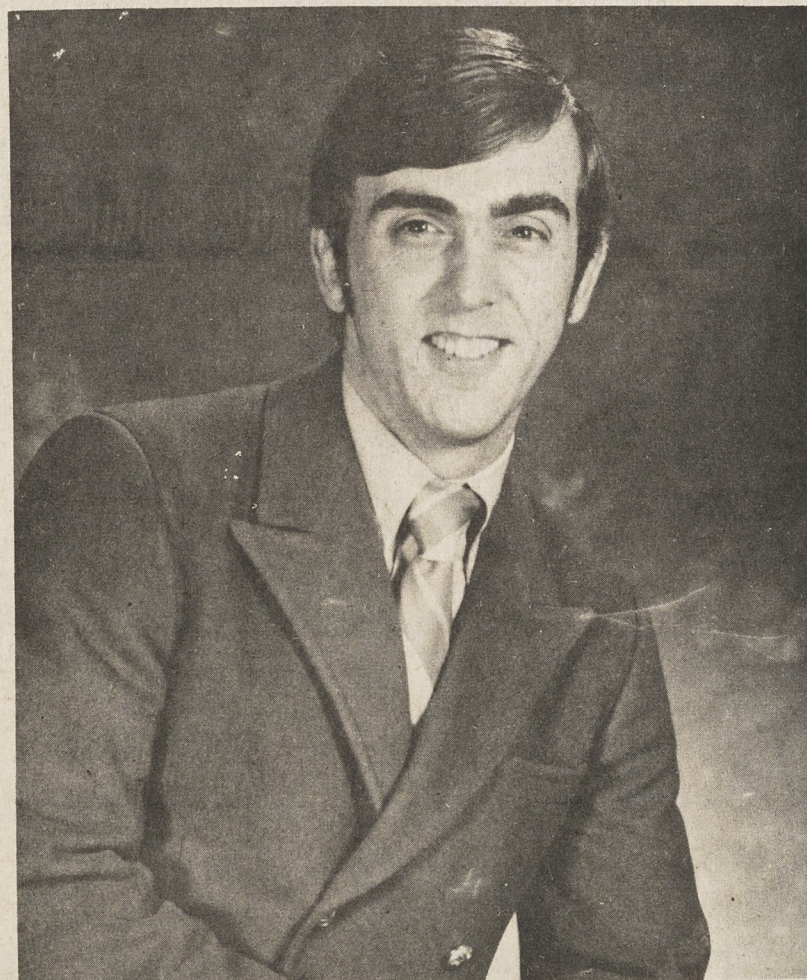

Seniors to Hold Dance

To climax the month long celebration of National Senior Citizens Month, the 55-Plus Club of Monterey County, comprised of persons 55 years of age and older, will be sponsoring a dinner dance at the Cherry Tree Inn located in Salinas at Washington Junior High School on Saturday, May 29.

The dinner dance will be open to full community participation. Tickets may be purchased at the Inn or by contacting the Monterey County Anti-Poverty Coordinating Council office in Salinas-Phone: 422-0091.

Mrs. Doris Brown, Senior Citizens Director, said that the dinner festivities will begin at 7 p.m. with dancing to follow immediately.

Faces Around the Bay

NATIVE CALIFORNIAN Richard L. Blevens, manager of Toys and Sundries Department at MBS Discount Center in Seaside, has rare distinction of having lived in log cabin most of his childhood. He went to Oregon with his parents when he was three years old. Until he was 14 he lived in cabin at his father's motel complex in Wilderville, Oregon. Graduate of Southern Oregon College, Blevens was associated with large discount operation in San Francisco Bay Area before joining MBS one year ago.

JOINT INSTALLATION

"Our Golden Heritage" was the theme during a joint installation of officers of the California Federation Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Marina Dunes, Monterey Peninsula, Pacific Grove and Seaside, which was held May 7 at Neptune's Table, Fisherman's Wharf, Monterey.

A well-planned musical program was one of the highlights of the evening. The Choraleers presented a musical, while Eleanor Kidwell played the piano.

Installing officers was Inez Neff, president, Peninsula District, B.P.W.C. Presidents installed for terms 1971-1972 were: Stella Garton, Marina Dunes; Ann Blythe, Monterey Peninsula; Dorothy Estill, Pacific Grove and Mildred Hopkins, Seaside.

Mrs. Wilbert (Millie) Hopkins, represented the Seaside club during the State Convention, which was held at the Beverly Hilton Hotel, Beverly Hills, May 20 thru 23.

Mrs. Marion H. Burbridge of Reseda, president of the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, presided when some 1000 delegates and members met during the 51st Annual Convention of the organization. The California Federation is affiliated with the original and largest national organization for business and professional women. B.P.W. was founded in 1919 to elevate standards for women in business and the professions, to promote their interest, to bring about cooperation among them and to extend opportunities to them through education. The National Federation has approximately 170,000 members in more than 3800 clubs, which are located in every Congressional District, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Island.

DATE CHANGE

The Les Grand Coeurs plans for a "Crazy Hot Pants and Jump Suit Dance" is still to be. However, the date has been change from August 7 since the Daughter Elks are having their Annual Ball on that date.

The new date for affair will be Saturday, October 2 from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Prizes will be given for the most unique and/or original attire worn.

The place of the dance will be announced at a later date.

SOUNDS OF YOUTH

Rehearsals and sign-ups for the Ninth Annual Sounds of Youth are still open. Interested individuals for the talent show should meet with Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. White at King Jr. High on Saturday at 2 p.m. or call 394-3935, 394-7294 or 375-7846. Interested Junior Debs should call Mrs. Harris, 394-3058.

Seaside Legion News

The Executive Committee meeting of the Seaside American Legion Post 591, was changed from May 31 to May 24 due to the Memorial Day holiday. Memorial Day services have also been changed from May 31 to May 30.

Post 591 at its last meeting nominated the following members for its elected offices: Doyle Johnson and Dick Clarey, commander; Mike Kalush, Dale Anderson and Jim Barnes, 1st vice commander; Hal Chavis, Freeman Johnson, John Nesteriak, Jim Barnes and Joe Dolan, 2nd vice commander; Noel Palmer, Ben Cooper and Ed Porter, 3rd vice commander; Ed Porter, Jasper Meeks and Dick Clarey, sergeant at arms.

Membership of the SAL Post 591 now stands at 536. At the last regular meeting, Bonifacio Rios, Earl Fritcher, Richard Midget, Larry Garrett, J.

C. Brantley and George Phillips were initiated.

At 10 a.m. on June 6, the 28th District of the American Legion will hold its meeting at the Seaside Post. There will be the nomination and election of officers.

Garden Column

by Russee Parvin DBA Parvin's Landscaping

The success of a green healthy lawn depends upon your interest in it. Last week I dramatized the importance of a regular fertilizing program. The second step to successful established lawn is top dressing. This can be done in winter, early spring, or the summer, if the lawn is watered daily.

Most rental yards have a machine called a vertical mower or a grass thatcher. This has vertical blades and thins out all the dead grass and roots in lawns. Run the vertical mower over the lawn in both directions. It will remove up to 30 percent of the grass. Then top dress the lawn with one-fourth inch good top soil or organic material mixed with top soil. Add your month's supply of fertilizer to the top dressing and water well. This process should be done once a year.

Keep the lawn well fertilized and watered and it will green up, looking like a new lawn. Mow the lawn weekly after the vertical mowing. The higher you cut the grass the less fertilizer and water will be needed.

The third step should take place about six weeks after the top dressing and vertical mowing of the lawn. If your lawn seems to be compacted and the water runs off the grass, instead of penetrating the soil, it needs to be aerified. A plugger machine, which is available at rental yards, should be run over the lawn in both directions. The plugs it takes out of the soil should be raked up. Then good soil mix should be put into the holes. This should be mixed equally with organic material (sawdust or rice hulls) and soil. Add the month's fertilizer and top dress the lawn so that it is a quarter of an inch thick. Don't use a spiker for aerifying your lawn - it compacts and compresses the soil, making the condition worse.

To insure a good green healthy lawn after following these various processes, the lawn must be watered well. The lawn should be watered every three days. Although some people think when it rains they don't have to water, the rain must be steady for two days for the water to go deep enough to matter. The lawn should be watered to eight inches below the surface.

YMCA Summer Camps Planned

The Monterey Peninsula YMCA is offering a large, widely varied camping program this summer with nine separate camps for boys 6-16 and girls 6-9, according to Doug Sprague, YMCA General Director.

The camping program, which is open to the public, include Y-Day Camp at the YMCA's Carmel Valley site, resident camp on Lake Sequoia and older youth camps in the High Sierra and on the Rogue River in Oregon.

Y-Day Camp will offer three two-week sessions for boys and one for girls, with swim instruction, hiking, crafts, nature lore, games, special trips, stories, parents' camp fire and an overnight campout. The day camp site is private property across the river from Carmel Valley Village.

The Y's Men's Club, the service club of the YMCA, will be developing the facilities, including the installation of an instructional swimming pool given last year by the Bing Crosby Youth Fund.

Activities include sailing, canoeing, rowing, fishing, swimming, with instructions, archery, trampoline, hiking, daily chapel and campfire programs, as well as many special events.

The two sessions available at the Lake Sequoia Camp are July 3-10 for 9-11 year olds and July 24-31 for 10-12 year olds.

High Sierra Base Camp, for 12-13 year old boys, will be held at Hume Lake August 5-14. This a more primitive camping experience in which the campers share in cooking chores for the entire camp and sleep on the ground. Main activities are sailing, canoeing, fishing and back-packing.

High Sierra Caravan for 13-14 year old boys, will be July 22-31 this year. This is a popular 10 day adventure, during which caravaners, traveling by YMCA caravan bus, visit the Mammoth Lake area on the eastern slope of the Sierras, and the Yosemite National Park. It features a trip to Bodie Ghost Town and a back-pack down Yosemite Creek to the top of Yosemite Falls. Main activities include fishing, sight-seeing, hiking and swimming.

A Float Trip down the Rogue River in Oregon, June 13-22, for boys 14-15 is the newest addition to the YMCA's Camp Schedule. They will actually be on the river five full days, with expert guides to take them safely through the sixty-some miles of rapids.

Persons interest in further information may call the YMCA office at 373-4166.

Enough time has elapsed to call to judgement all the publicity claims for the local urban renewal juggernaut. In terms of what has been produced in hard values, renewal has been a gigantic $15,000,000 waste. If U.R. does not influence property values, it is nothing. What it has produced in Seaside is a political powerhouse that has been able to arrogantly intimidate the entire community. This paper has searched patiently for some sign of productivity from the agency, but, aside from its cosmetic effect (which could have been bought for less than the local share of the cost of the project), it adds up to little more than a political patronage system.

WHERE HAS THE MONEY GONE

To spend $15,000,000 in a city which has an assessed valuation of $16,000,000 and come up with a city of $25,000,000 assessed valuation (taking into consideration inflation) when comparable communities have had a 100 percent increase in growth-without urban redevelopment or with a moribund agency as in Monterey leads us to ask some questions. Where did the money go? And why? Did we need a bureaucratic Federal Agency to spend that much money in Seaside and come up with practically nothing in hard values, while our sister cities in the county have done much better without one? Where did the $15,000,000 go, Mr. Haddad and Mr. Weingarten? Vote YES June 1 to return the Urban Renewal Agency to the hands of its rightful owners - the citizens of this city.

MEASURE SUBMITTED TO VOTE OF VOTERS

Shall Ordinance No. 389, passed and adopted by the Seaside City Council on February 4, 1971, "An Ordinance Establishing Official Redevelopment Agency" be enacted and approved?

YES

NO

Proposed Ordinance to be submitted to the qualified electors of the City of Seaside at Special Election on June 1, 1972.

ORDINANCE NO. 389

AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING OFFICIAL REDEVELOPMENT AGENCY
THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SEASIDE does ordain as follows:

The Municipal Code of the City of Seaside is amended by changing and adding the following sections:

STATEMENT OF FACTS:

There has heretofore been established in the City of Seaside a Redevelopment Agency as the Official Redevelopment Agency of the City of Seaside, and

The Legislature has seen fit to re-establish the doctrine of vesting all sovereign power in the City Council as the elected representatives of the people by the enactment of Chapter 1392 of the Statutes of 1970, specifically amending Section 32200 of the Health and Safety Code.

SECTION 11-304. OFFICIAL REDEVELOPMENT AGENCY: The legislative body, the City Council of the City of Seaside, by ordinance does declare itself to be the agency provided for in Section 32200 of the Health and Safety Code and all the rights, powers, duties, privileges and immunities vested by said Health and Safety Code in an agency, shall be vested henceforth in the legislative body of the City of Seaside.

All ordinances or resolutions or parts of ordinances or resolutions in conflict herewith are repealed insofar as they conflict with this Ordinance.

This Ordinance shall be published once after its passage in the Seaside News-Sentinel and shall be in force and take effect thirty (30) days from and after its approval and passage.

INTRODUCED: This 21st day of January, 1971.

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Seaside held on the 4th day of February, 1971, by the following vote:

AYES, and in favor thereof, Councilmen: McGrath, Ross, Carey

NOES, Councilmen: Mayor Haddad

ABSENT, Councilmen: Murray

Will Hold Summer Session

The University for Man, the two-year-old "free university" which maintains headquarters at Monterey Peninsula College, is making plans for its first summer session, a UFM spokesman announced recently.

New in the formation stage are two seminars scheduled for the month of July, plus reports of several of the UFM's most successful spring semester groups.

Included will be a "summer sun fun" group "dedicated to taking advantage of all the good summer things available on the Peninsula."

Persons with talents or abilities in various fields who will volunteer to "teach" classes or lead discussions are needed.

The following are the answers to the letter we sent to each candidate in the upcoming recall election concerning next Tuesday's referendum election. The candidates were asked to answer the following questions:

Editor: In answer to your letter dated May 12, 1971, I am sending herewith my answers to your questions:

1. No - If the Council becomes Urban Renewal Agency, the people of Seaside will not have an appellate body to appeal to. As it stands now, they can appeal to the Council if Urban Renewal Agency is not performing satisfactorily.

2. No - At present, the Urban Renewal Agency has 20 employees; this is sufficient staff. Refer to HUD Auditor concerning Employment of Employees.

3. No - Due to the fact the Urban Renewal Agency does obtain their projects and explicit direction from the Council, who in turn represent the people of Seaside.

4. No - No comment. This is misleading question. Refer to Title I Housing Act 1949.

5. This is not the issue at present. Anyone capable of performing the job should be hired. I believe in competency at all levels.

Abraham Aldamuy

Editor: Thank you for allowing me the opportunity to express my views regarding the June 1 special election by answering the questions put forth in your letter dated May 12, 1971.

At the present time, I am strongly opposed to the elected body, the City Council, becoming the Urban Renewal Agency. It appears the majority of the present Council is opposed to redevelopment. We must remember that four projects are in progress and these contracts must be honored. I believe the more people involved in City government, the better informed the people are. The Agency has twenty employees. If we take into consideration that there are four projects in various stages of development, I do not feel there are too many employees. The Agency was audited by the federal government recently and the number of employees approved.

I am not sure how I feel about future projects being put to a vote. If the voters were fully informed and politics not allowed to enter into the decision, I suppose a vote would be welcomed.

Future Federal Tax-Sharing should not be affected by past expenditures by the government for Seaside's renewal projects. This would be like taxing the city after the fact.

In answer to your last question, I feel it would be desirable to have certain city employees living within the city, but I understand in the case of the City of Englewood the courts declared their ordinance requiring city employees to live in the city unconstitutional. There is legislation before the state, SB 5008-3, which would prohibit cities from requiring residency of their employees.

Billie L. Barton

Editor: Here is my position on the five questions you submitted to me.

Concerning the first question, I think the City Council is completely adequate to run the Redevelopment Agency. However, I would not want them to do so at this time because the council just doesn't have the time to put in with their other duties. I would like the participation of the residents of Seaside running their own city.

In answer to the second question, I am in favor of reducing the number of employees and have so stated at many agency meetings. But I am convinced that the minimum amount now employed will get the work done more efficiently. I will continue to press for a reduction of employees.

About your third question, I do not think the projects should be put to the vote of the people.

I have no comment to make on your fourth question.

Finally, I do believe that if you can get a qualified person who lives in the city, then he should be hired. However, if not, then go to the best man.

Joe Cota

Editor: Concerning your questions on the Urban Renewal Agency:

Since I do not know why the Elected body of Seaside, the City Council, wants control of this agency I am not in favor of them having all this power.

The agency has around 20 employees. Can these four council members or any other four handle the agency or will other appointments have to be made to help out?

I feel like our Hon. Burt L. Talcott. In 1965, in the United States House of Representatives he introduced H. R. 7434 which would make it a requirement of Federal law that a referendum be held before any renewal projects is undertaken.

The House Committee on Banking and Currency later indicated that the Committee had no immediate plans for action on the proposal. Why not?

Florida has a unique urban renewal procedure. The law provides that each city must first submit urban renewal to the electorate.

I feel the above paragraph should answer your other questions.

Floyd L. Davenport

Editor: I am definitely not in favor of the Seaside City Council taking over the Urban Renewal Agency in Seaside.

2. I do not feel that the Urban Renewal Agency has too many employees. The Federal Government has conducted an examination of the Urban Renewal funds and no audit exceptions have been indicated to the Urban Renewal Board concerning the staffing of its personnel. The city has added a number of new employees while the Urban Renewal Agency has decreased their staff.

3. Yes, people should have a voice in future Urban Renewal projects which is provided for through their elected representatives. The state law provides that the City Council will adopt the plans and budget as a prerequisite before the Urban Renewal Agency can initiate the project. They are elected by the people.

4. Your question concerning future Federal Tax-Sharing plans was not clearly defined. I am in favor of revenue sharing and the spending of those monies in whatever program which will benefit Seaside the most.

5. As a member of the Urban Renewal Agency Board I am not a paid employee, however, whenever possible I feel that paid employees should be residents of the city of Seaside. The hiring of the best qualified people for all positions will ensure that our tax dollar is utilized to the greatest benefit.

The municipal code only requires one person from the agency to live within the city of Seaside. Until the city passes a law requiring all employees to live in the city, they must abide by that law.

The present legislature and recent Supreme Court decisions rule against a city requiring their employees to live within the city.

Any public employee should have the same rights as people working in private business to live where they want to live.

Mrs. Sarah E. Ector

Editor: Being a candidate for the City Council of Seaside, I wish to make known my stand on the issue appearing on the ballot June 1. The issue is the council takeover of the redevelopment agency. I approve one hundred percent. It is long overdue, if not too late.

However, before the council takes over, they should call for a grand jury investigation and have Mr. Hoss and Mr. Haddad lay all their cards face up. There might be some interesting facts brought to light as to who has profited from a substantial number of real estate dealings in Seaside.

I accuse no one in particular, but it would make the citizens of Seaside happy to learn everything has been honest and above board. Mr. Hoss, being impudent, could care less about Seaside, not being a resident thereof. Take his huge salary away and he would say to hell with it.

In addition, there is a question of doubt in my mind when an agency hires an attorney of questionable character. Knowing that to be true, I would like for Mr. Hoss to make known to the public how many employees he has discharged from the agency since the large cut back on federal funds.

I believe all city employees should be required to live within the city. Then they have a better idea about our city problems and hereafter any major problems or projects of urban renewal should be approved by a vote of the people.

I want the voters to know I want a good city government, but not the B. J. Dolan kind. If they want to elect me under these terms I will be glad to serve them. If not, I do not give a damn - they would not be worth fighting for anyway because they simply don't care about their city or themselves.

Get out and vote June 1 or quiting. This is my stand in a few city issues without reservations.

William C. May

Editor: Let me first say I feel Urban Renewal has done a good job in some of its projects. I also feel that at present we have enough projects without Lafuna Grande. Whether or not the council becomes the agency, I feel the council should have enough power to help guide the direction that redevelopment follows in the future. The agency is just an appointed board. At present these appointments are made by the Mayor. If these appointments should be made by the council as a whole.

All future projects should be voted on by voters at a regular election. Any major changes in master plans should also be voted on.

Remember, on June 1, 1971 it does not matter who says they are the Redevelopment Agency. What really matters is who has the authority over the agency.

I don't think any money given to Seaside for Urban Renewal should be counted against Seaside, in Federal Revenue sharing plan. Of course I really don't think we have much to say about it.

We can't force anyone to live where they don't want to, although it would show some faith in the area if all employees, especially the management, lived in the city.

David L. Mitchell

Editor: As an intelligent voter, loyal citizen and active participant of Seaside community affairs, I am not in favor of the elected body, namely the City Council, becoming the Urban Renewal Agency in Seaside. Why? Because I feel that the Council has enough to do already without taking on this added responsibility, which requires full-time professional attention and undivided dedication and effort.

I am aware of the progress made by the Redevelopment Agency for Seaside and I think, if some changes could be made on its staff and better public relations could be established with some poor senior citizens involved in relocation, the URA should continue to function and be allowed to improve itself in the days ahead.

If every employee in that Agency is hired carefully for his ability and knowledge, doing his or her best for the aged and poor, I think that person ought to be retained, even though some positions may have to be omitted due to budgeting and necessity.

We should have confidence in the Agency, if it is doing a good job. No, Urban Renewal projects should not be put to a vote of the people, unless they are so controversial, so detrimental to the people involved. Public hearings, however, may be held in case certain future projects have need of people's reaction. I am not sure any money given to Seaside for Urban Renewal should be counted against the City in any future Federal Tax-Sharing plan. I would like to see, though, that URA employees should reside within the City of Seaside, although in some cases, exceptions may be made according to certain circumstances.

C. Y. Lee

Editor: Regarding the council take-over of the Redevelopment Agency, I think there are urgent reasons why the City Council should take over the Seaside Redevelopment Agency.

The present management, typically bureaucratic, is costing Seaside's taxpayer money. Efficient management would speed up completion of redevelopment projects. Much duplication of functions between the Agency and the City could be eliminated.

The Redevelopment Board is a rubber stamp to Mr. Hoss, the Director. It has shown no interest in acting as a directive force sensitive to local problems.

Builders in the redevelopment projects are violently dissatisfied. They are discouraged by the Agency rather than encouraged. Why harass, bury in red tape private capital necessary to help Seaside grow?

Passage of State Legislation in 1970 encouraged more local control and permitted City Council take-over of an Agency. A Council is more aware of, and more sensitive to, the unique problems of the City.

The people can now decide what is best for Seaside.

Bill W. Lewellen

Editor: In response to your questions listed in your letter of May 12, 1971, I submit the following:

1. In this particular instance I am definitely in favor of the Seaside City Council taking over the duties of the Seaside Urban Renewal Agency.

2. I feel strongly that the tendency for governmental agencies to "build kingdoms and/or empires" is very overpowering and on that basis alone the city of Seaside should have a periodic "personnel study" made in addition to the routine and common-place audit of the Government Audit or Accounting Office. All personnel vacancies or slots should be completely justified to the satisfaction of the harshest critic.

3. This is a debatable question and needs further study. For example, Urban Renewal projects should not be allowed to continue from one project to another. This is self-defeating and proves to be very devastating for the city, as has happened in every case of long-term Urban Renewal undertakings. Projects that need embracing and furthering can and should be recommended by advisory boards, citizen's groups, chamber of commerce and therefore, may well not need to be put to a referendum.

4. Tax sharing has not been adequately defined as yet and is still being modified. Until precise plans are published it would only be a guess to comment pro or con to this question.

5. I definitely agree with the premise that all people should be motivated to want to live in the city of their employment and should be adequately provided with the incentives necessary to make them want to reside within the city. Further, these incentives should come from the Federal government as part of the original plan. When the "good folks" in Washington set up these plans, they assumed that the bureaucrats and kingdom-and-empire-builders that they wedded to these jobs--those pros that know best what is good for the people--did not come here with any illusory precepts of loyalty to their goals. Unless provided with regulatory incentives, the elite, as the pros become, don't care to associate with those whom they are providing homes and other facilities.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to place my feelings before your readers.

Don Likas

Editor: Listed below are my answers to your five questions as forwarded to me May 21, 1971.

1. I am not in favor of the elected body of Seaside, the city council becoming the Urban Renewal Agency of Seaside. My main reason is that the behavior of the present council would, in my estimation, create a complete disaster and cost the city more money by their wasteful use of the taxpayers money than the citizen's could possibly afford. I believe that the Agency should be appointed and, consequently be free from pressures of "campaign contributors" which are setting the present council in a ruthless, conspiratorial manner.

2. All governmental agencies have too many employees, from a taxpayers viewpoint. My personal evaluation is that the Federal government as represented by HUD, has a very strict control on the amount of employees that are required for each project. I certainly am not in favor of spending money for a professional team of efficiency experts to determine this elusive factor, when controls are already in existence to cope with this situation.

3. Future Urban renewal projects should certainly be put to a vote of the people, although there may be a legal problem involved. I sincerely believe that the total population should have the say so and control of the existence of a new project.

4. I do not believe that any moneys given to Seaside can or would be counted against its share in any possible tax sharing plan on the federal level. It is my personal belief that since we have used federal funds wisely, and well, in the past, that we might be very well favored in this direction.

5. Regarding the geographical location of the homes of the employees of the Urban Renewal Agency, this can be a two way street. We might want some of our citizens to work in the other communities in the area in their URA projects, for who really knows what is ahead city wise in the next twenty years? Looking at the question in this light it could be a form of harmful discrimination. However, if the hiring decisions were my personal job and there were applicants for a job of all equal qualifications, then I certainly would choose the applicant from Seaside.

Naturally there can be no element of retroactivity in this situation of employees. When the hiring of a top level employee is contracted for the location of the home can be so stipulated in the contract. This of course is a completely different set of conditions than the employees without a contractual agreement.

Emil C. Schmidt

Editor: Answers to questions on Urban Renewal:

1. Yes, I am in favor of the City Council becoming the Urban Renewal Agency.

2. Yes, the Urban Renewal Agency has too many employees.

3. Yes, future Urban Renewal Projects, should be put to a vote.

4. I don't know what the Federal revenue sharing plan will be at this time, so I would rather not answer this question at this time.

5. Yes, Urban Renewal Agency employees should live in the city of Seaside.

Lawrence Erlston

Editor: As I am retired and have spent almost thirty years as a general contractor, I know that each and every job has to be studied to figure out the best way to get the job done.

As the election is several days away and not being a councilman, I would not care to comment at this time on your questions concerning the Redevelopment Agency. If I am elected to the city council, I assure you that my vote would be in the interest if the Seaside taxpayer.

Leo Spiva

Editor: Answers to the five questions on Urban Renewal.

1. Only if we are going to phase out our redevelopment program.

2. As a former mayor, planning commissioner and Redevelopment Agency member, I am well aware of personnel matters and I can unequivocally state that the Federal Government annually audits the program and if the agency if top-heavy in personnel they will be notified. The present staff has been reduced recently from 31 to 20--over 34 percent. Perhaps a further cut is necessary. It may bear looking into.

3. Should future U.R. projects be put to a vote of the people? I have no objection to it, but I believe there are enough people now who ultimately must vote on an U.R. project that are knowledgeable about the city's needs to arrive at a logical conclusion. The planning commission, the city council and the Redevelopment Agency all must pass on a new project.

4. Absolutely not.

5. When a job becomes available on the U.R. staff, a city resident should be given first priority, if all other qualifications are equal. It would be difficult to require residency if we must sacrifice top-qualified people for third or fourth choices because of this requirement.

Jack Oldemeyer

Editor: Thank you for your letter of May 12, 1971, requesting my stand on the issue of Urban development management to be decided by our voters on June 1. Here is my position:

My answer to question 1 is No. The job of redevelopment planning and implementation is highly technical and professional and requires full-time attention. The big task must be performed by a specialized agency which is not politically oriented. The City Council, by the very nature of its existence, primarily acts by political motivations. If the Councilmen themselves were to directly operate and administer our redevelopment program, the technical and full-time nature of the job would naturally suffer because political considerations and compromises would prevail. Add to this aspect the fact that our Councilmen are part-time officials. It would be too much to ask of them to render a full-time job on a part-time basis. It is bad enough that our present City Council has failed to move forward in solving the many problems of our City because of political bickerings.

Under the present set-up, the Urban Renewal Agency is directly responsible to the City Council to the extent that the City Council has to approve that agency's programs. This makes the City Council still the final deciding authority. What need is there for a change? Any change would make no substantial difference as to seat of ultimate responsibility in this area of government function.

Regarding question 2, NO, I do not think the Urban Renewal Agency has too many employees. I have been in direct contact with the Urban Renewal Agency and familiar with its operations during my tenure as member of the Design and Review Board of the Redevelopment Agency and as member of the City Planning Commission. I must say, in all fairness to all concerned, that the present employee force is just sufficient to cope with the big job of redevelopment planning and implementation.

My answer to the third question is NOT IN ALL CASES. I am in favor of giving the Urban Renewal Agency the right to appeal directly to the people of Seaside, through a Referendum, in the event that the City Council disapproves its major recommendations.

I have NO COMMENT AT THIS TIME concerning the fourth question. I believe that it is premature for us to make any stand on future Federal tax-sharing in view of the fact that the proposal of President Nixon is still pending consideration by Congress. Until we know exactly the specific provisions of law to govern tax or revenue sharing in relation to local governments, it would be unwise to advance any opinions on the matter.

In answer to the final question, NO, I don't think Urban Renewal Agency employees should have to live in Seaside. The modern trend in policy is to give employees of city governments as much freedom to decide where they want to live. The right to determine one's residence is an inalienable right of a free man which our city government must honor.

Again, thank you for giving me a chance to express my views on this important issue.

Glenn Olea

Editor: In general, to a city with a low property tax base from which it must draw money to provide services to the public (such as Seaside), Urban Renewal is the best program that the U.S. Government has devised to date to deal with the problem. Of course, I am including Model Cities as a form of urban renewal.

On the other hand, many people (especially those who are directly affected by loss of home, property or business without getting enough money for such loss to re-establish themselves) consider Urban Renewal to be a NIGHTMARE.

I did some research on this subject. In our city from 1962 to March 31, 1971, our Redevelopment Agency - through its Executive Directors - has spent or administered $22,571,339.92. Over the same period of time -- and adding three months -- our City Council through its City Managers - from 1962 through June 30, 1971) has spent or administered $13,263,791,000. In other words, the Agency administers almost twice as much as the Council. It must be pointed out that the Council approves the Agency budget on a "pass through" basis. (In the Army we used the term "the tail is wagging the dog".)

Let me make this clear. My opinion has no bearing upon any member of the agency or the staff. My position would be the same regardless of who the individual members of either the Agency or the Council may be. I believe we have one of the most efficient agencies in the Nation. And it has been through the cooperation and sacrifices of the people who line here that made this possible.

Because more and more of our limited land area is coming under control of the redevelopment process, and because the safety and security of its citizens is the first duty of your elected City Council, I strongly believe that the Council should also become the Agency.

In answer to the specific question: YES to the first question it would give the people the right to hold their elected officials directly responsible for acts of the Agency.

Grooving Around the Peninsula

with BETTY MANN

Hi There Fellow Peninsulans:

Happiness is seeing a beautiful brand new $65,000 pre-school facility located here in Seaside. This is the first major business venture in Seaside to be accomplished with a black person, at the helm. On Sunday, May 16, an estimated crowd of 350 persons attended the ribbon cutting ceremonies at the dedication of the new quarters of "Operation Shoestring," which was created and organized by its founder, Reverend H. H. Lusk. Assemblyman Bob Wood of Greenfield cut the ribbon. Looking on were County Supervisor Loren Smith, Councilman Steve Ross, County Welfare Director William Leach, Reverend Lusk Mrs. Betty Lusk, Mrs. Joan Greenwell, Mrs. Marjorie Green, Mrs. Charles Knight and Dr. Henry Hutchins.

As the guests entered the building through the spacious glass doors, a colorful and interesting insignia greeted them. The initials "O.S.S.," accompanied by an untied shoe, decorate the floor at the entrance. Many of the picturesque characters of Disneyland line the wall through out the center. While touring the center and observing the teaching materials, I noticed the array of educational pre-school books that were written by Ezra Jack Keats, whom I've heard resides in Carmel. The fascinating thing was that the children and families in the books were in the likeness of black people, living in everyday conditions that are familiar to black children. This gives them a feeling of identity, which, until a few years ago, has been kept from our children. The school has many other books that relate to all races, giving the children of other cultural backgrounds that attend "O.S.S." the same reading advantages of his culture. Dr. Henry Hutchins, the master of ceremonies, opened the festivities by thanking the many contributors of "O.S.S." for their donations, advice and help. Assemblyman Wood then gave his version of how the project was started and how he and many others from the State Legislature and from Monterey helped it. He read a letter from Governor Ronald Reagan, commending Reverend Lusk on the achievements of his project.

Following Wood to the podium was guest speaker, Mrs. Pauline Hooper of Los Angeles. She is a specialist in early childhood development. She pointed out that we now have the shoes, but must concentrate on "keeping them on" (meaning that the community should support and help O.S.S. in every phase). Mrs. Hooper stated that pre-school programs such as O.S.S. will provide an early knowledgeable environment for our children, so that they will start their early curriculum on the same level as other children "and will also be able to speak the right sentence in the correct way." She compared Reverend Lusk, in one way, to Dr. Martin Luther King by pointing out that "Reverend Lusk also had a dream."

Following Mrs. Hooper was another guest speaker from Los Angeles, Ron Prescott, (also a specialist in early childhood development, who is director of a program which received a $2 million grant recently). Prescott said that a grass roots program such as O.S.S. requires much risk taking and Reverend Lusk will need help from the community to carry this program through. He also emphasized that pre-school organizations needs people who are willing to identify with the benefits of pre-school education.

Guest speakers Loren Smith, Steve Ross, Mrs. Charlie Knight, followed the same tone and wished success and community support for Operation Shoe String. Mrs. Knight, during her talk, said that she and Reverend Lusk were former board members of Pioneer House and their utmost desires were for Pioneer House to organize a pre-school program. The wish was never granted so Reverend Lusk removed himself from the board, and got the idea for a project, which resulted in O.S.S. Mrs. Knight stated that Reverend Lusk will always be a symbol in Seaside because he has destroyed the age old myth of slave mentality by his ability to advance. She also pointed out that MPUSD has never been able to provide bus transportation for pre-school students in this area, but Reverend Lusk has been. Children are transported from the home to the center and then to the school.

Things I wonder about. Is there a real Obie Jackson or is that an "alias." How does one get to meet Obie???? Reading that the defense attorneys of the Soledad trio who are on trial, want change of venue because their are not enough prospective black jurors in Monterey County???? Why does one have to drive to the Safeway Store in Carmel to shop for imported and exotic gourmet spices and goodies, while some of us in Seaside enjoy the same delights as our wealthy neighbors in Pebble Beach and Carmel!!! Right on! and stock some Crazy Janes Salt and Trader Vics specialties on Seaside's shelves. Until Next Week ?????? Betty

Litter Law Strengthened

Elder Ezra Taft Benson, a member of the Council of Twelve of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will speak at the Monterey Bay Stake Conference Saturday and Sunday, May 29 and 30, in Seaside.

Elder Benson served during the eight-year Eisenhower Administration as U.S. Secretary of Agriculture. He is a long-time official of the Boy Scouts of America and serves as director of Corn Products Co.

A former president of the European missions of the Church, he now supervises its Far East missions.

The Conference session will be held Sunday at 10 a.m. in the Stake Center, 1024 Noche Buena.

Stake President Ariel C. Merrill, 1038 Ocean Road, Pebble Beach, says visitors are welcome.

Elder to Speak Here

Thurs., May 27, 1971, Seaside POST News-Sentinel Page 5

Gone are the days when a lenient court or magistrate could dismiss the charges against a litterbug with a stern-or friendly-warning.

California's new anti-litter statute--the McCarthy-Walsh Act which was adopted by the 1970 legislature--provides that littering is punishable by a mandatory, minimum fine of $10 for the first offense.

A second misdeed, the law says, costs the violator a minimum of $25 and the third extracts at least $50 from his pocketbook.

In each case, the maximum penalty is $500.

The legislation, which many officials have termed both enforceable and progressive, also provides that 50 percent of all fines or forfeitures collected upon conviction of littering offenses, except of-fenses on state parks.

Foundation Is Sanctioned as Non-Profit

The Naval Postgraduate School announced its official sanctioning as a non-profit organization and the acceptance of a number of gifts at a Board of Trustees meeting recently. The Foundation was established December 8, 1970, as a self-help organization for the Navy upon the suggestion of several friends of the Postgraduate School.

It acts as an effective medium for handling donations to the School and provides guidance in directing placement of these gifts.

The general purpose of the Foundation is to initiate programs and to improve facilities at the Naval Postgraduate School that would not normally be funded by the government due to current budgetary restrictions.

The realization of these goals would afford future Naval leaders the best educational atmosphere possible. To date the Foundation has initiated a recreational sailing program at the School through the acquisition of two sailboats and has established an "Excellence in Teaching" cash award for the faculty member most highly regarded as a teacher by his colleagues and students.

Provided support, the Foundation hopes to establish, among other things, special supplementary study programs for Naval officers, a traveling research scholarship, "chairs" for Naval Postgraduate School professors and construction of a student-faculty center and gymnasium.

Robert Allan, President of the Foundation, said "We hope gifts will not only consist of money, but also include personal property donations such as stocks, bonds and art work from both military and civilian sources."

Group Coming for Concert

On Memorial Day, Sunday, May 30, "The Singing Knights and Their Ladies," which is a group of over 100 singers and instrumentalists from Kattella High School in Anaheim, will present a special public concert at the Sunset Community and Culture Center Theater in Carmel at 8:15 p.m.

The concert will consist of classical selections by Bach, Victoria, Hassler and Mendelssohn, followed by popular favorites, patriotic selections, and concluding with a special arrangement of songs from "Man of La Mancha."

NOW SHOWING - Army Chaplain has been source of strength to nation's fighting men since creation of Continental Army by act of Congress on June 17, 1775. On that day, Chaplain David Avery, among others, ministered to Continental Army at Breed's Hill outside Boston. This and other incidents in long history of the Army chaplaincy are told in special exhibit now on display in Olympia Plaza Shopping Center, 1760 Fremont Boulevard, Seaside. There is no charge for admission.

Hermosillos Back at Home

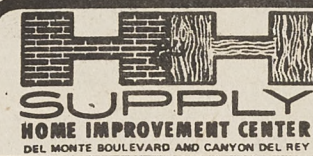

Recently returned from an extended vacation in Mexico, Ben and Rosa Hermosillo are back at their old stand--Zoraida's Mexican Restaurant on Fremont Boulevard.

The trip, a combination of business and pleasure, took the Hermosillos as far south as Mexico City, where they visited Rosa's mother. Drop in and say hello to Ben and Rosa at their restaurant, where they are serving customers with their usual charm, grace and good food.

MPC Offering Art Institutes

Four short, but intensive art institutes will be offered during the Monterey Peninsula College 1971 summer session, according to Robert Nelson, chairman of MPC's creative arts division.

Three two-week institutes in design, drawing and painting will meet mornings and afternoons from June 21 through July 2. Artist Joseph Tanous, formerly a member of the faculty at the University of California at Davis, will teach design. Nelson will instruct the course in drawing and Pacific Grove artist Andrea Spark, for some time a part-time instructor at MPC, the course in painting.

A three-week tapestry institute - a first at MPC - will run from July 12 through 30, also meeting daily, mornings and afternoons. Looms will be provided, but students must provide their own yarn.

Instructor Pat Boles, who teaches at Pacific Grove High School, is a product of Penland Craft Center in North Carolina.

Advance registration for any of the institutes may be completed by mail through June 3, with application materials available in the college administration building.

On-campus registration will be conducted June 16-18.

Taking Care Of Their Pets

Pet owners in the United States spent about $3 billion last year for the purchase and care of 600 million animals, fish and birds.

This was triple the 1960 figure, according to a Bank of America report, which adds that the total is expected to reach $3.5 billion by 1975.

The latest issue of The Small Business Reporter was released recently by Regional Vice President James B. Wiesler. The report states: "New store designs are minimizing the traditional noises and unpleasant odors once associated with petshop operations and modern merchandising methods and boosting the sales potential of these outlets."

"But the key to the independent pet shop owner's success has not changed: customer service still keeps him in business."

The bank study notes that the prospective petshop operator should take into consideration the fact that middle and upper income families, especially those with children, own the most pets and spend the most on pet food and accessories.

"One temptation that faces all shop owners is to stock their stores with rare and exotic fish and animals that are interesting to see, but not easy to sell," the reportsays.

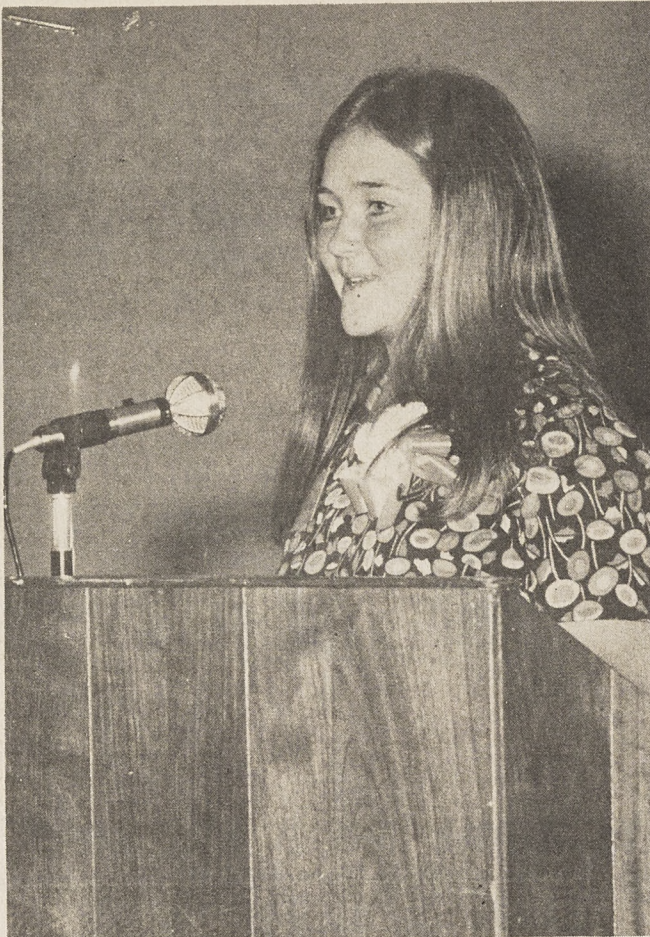

"The continual turnover of a basic livestock inventory that appeals to customer needs is what holds the business together."

A single copy of the report may be obtained free at any Bank of America branch, according to Wiesler.

Sealed bids on the below described items will be received in the office of the City Clerk, 440 Harcourt Avenue, Seaside, California, until 4:00 p.m. June 4, 1971, at which time said bids will publicly opened. Bids shall be submitted on bid form furnished by the City and available from the City Clerk.

AWARD WINNER - Alfreida Fikes, straight "A" student at Monterey High School, was named winner of Ft. Ord Officers Wives Club $750 scholarship. She plans to attend MPC for two years and then she hopes to go to Humboldt State College to major in elementary school teaching and foreign languages. Her goal is to teach overseas. Alfreida, daughter of late Army Master Sergeant J.C. Fikes, lives with her mother in Seaside.

Anti-Litter Awards Given

The Youth Council of the Newark Commission for Neighborhood Conservation and Rehabilitation received a 1970 Keep America Beautiful, Inc. Youth Award for its outstanding work in litter-prevention, here recently, at a "Salute to Youth" luncheon during KAB's Seventeenth Annual Meeting.

Ovel Barbee, a member of the Council, accepted the award, an engraved trophy cup, from Keep America Beautiful's President, James C. Bowling, who was assisted by Karen Stenwall, America's 1970 Junior Miss.

In making the presentation, Mr. Bowling noted that this past summer "the young people toured the city as 'Litter Maids and Litter Men' giving out 'penalty warning tickets' to litterers."

The Newark Youth Council, composed of young people from each of the area's high schools, initiated its anti-litter slogans and poems. Posters and stickers were developed from the "best" efforts and posted in city agencies, businesses, and schools throughout the city. Newspapers, and local radio stations helped to publicize these slogans. Youth Council members distributed notices and literature about the city's "Clean Sweep" Program, explained to area residents how they could cooperate in the program, acquainted local merchants with anti-litter ordinances, and generally circulated throughout the city emphasizing the importance of each citizen's responsibility in keeping the city's streets free of litter.

Personalized VW To Keep It Clean Plate Program Is Expanded

Motorcycle owners can do their bit for California's ecology by ordering personalized license plates for their two-wheelers, according to Joseph Walton, manager of the Monterey Office of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

"The law, which specifies passenger vehicles, has been interpreted to include motorcycles," he declared, "and the Correctional Industries plant is able to turn out the smaller license plates just as handily as the larger ones."

Walton added that pickup trucks which don't carry commercial loads are eligible for passenger plates and they, too, qualify for customized license plates, bearing the owner's choice of letters or letters and numbers.

The same rules apply for regular passenger vehicle plates, he added. The vehicle owner selects from two to six letters and numbers which don't form a misleading or indecent expression, aren't in conflict with established license plate series and don't duplicate unique combinations already assigned to others.

A $25 fee is charged and $10 a year is added to the registration fee. All the money after costs goes to the ecology--the bulk of it to combat air pollution.

The personalized license plate (PLP) program continues to average 200 orders a day and has topped the 33,000 point in plates requested. Some $350,000 after expenses, has been deposited in the Environment Protection Fund.

Money from the fund is now going to three district programs: coordination of smog control efforts of the state's several air basin districts; research into agricultural burning; activation of nine pilot courses in ecology education ranging from kindergarten through state college.

'No-Pest' Is Pesky Problem

Consumer Reports has raised the question of possible collusion and conflict of interest to the public detriment over federal regulation of the Shell No-Pest Strip.

The product, made by a subsidiary of Shell Oil, is a yellow plastic resin strip that continuously releases the pesticide DDVP into the air.

The Department of Agriculture recently ordered Shell to strengthen the warning label on its big-selling household pesticide product, but it failed to extend the requirement to all No-Pest Strips currently on the market, says the consumer magazine.

Thus, the important new warning that the pesticide should not be used "in kitchens, restaurants or areas where food is prepared or served" will not appear on the strips already in stores.

Consumer Reports estimates there are about 10 million such strips, based on a wire-service survey of about $30-million worth. The pesticide product is not covered by the new label requirement.

The No-Pest Strip was registered by the Pesticides Regulation Division (PRD) of the USDA in 1963. Registration came after John S. Leary Jr., then the PRD's chief staff officer for pharmacology, overruled an objection by one of his subordinates who had recommended that the label be changed to include the word "Poison" and a skull and crossbones.

The magazine also reveals that in July 1966 the Public Health Service recommended that the Shell No-Pest Strip be denied registration because the pesticide strips "deliberately subject human beings to continued exposure to a pesticide."

A few months later, says Consumer Reports, the same

VW To Keep It Clean

New infrared test equipment is being installed in all 147 Volkswagen dealerships in California to help keep VW engines running "clean."

Joseph Metz, Volkswagen of America Vice President - Corporate Service, said the project -- an automobile industry "first"--was achieved with the cooperation of both the distributors and dealers in the state. Metz pointed out that "a number of factors--among them simple wear and tear--can cause an increase in an automobile engine's exhaust emission no matter how 'clean' the powerplant" was when it left the factory."

Metz added: "This is why it is so important to keep close check over engine performance. Our new infrared test equipment will help insure that VW owners' cars are kept in top operating condition year after year, assuring a clean exhaust emission."

Installation of the new test equipment in the California VW dealerships "represents an important Phase Two," Metz said, "in our continuing anti-smog campaign. The first stage was accomplished when we opened our exhaust control laboratory at Woodland Volkswagen in Woodland Hills, California. That laboratory gives our factory engineers a check on the performance of VW engines from a wide production range."

The new test equipment at each dealership will be used to check hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions from 1968 and later model VWs, all of which were equipped with exhaust emission controls at the time of manufacture. Those HC and CO emissions, Metz said, are recognized as two of the main contributors to air pollution.

The new emission test is performed by inserting a sampling tube into the tailpipe of a vehicle's engine which is running at idle. Exhaust gas is pumped into an infrared analyzer which separately measures both the carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon content.

Metz said that only minor engine adjustments are required to bring excessive emissions back into line with Federal and State exhaust control standards.

Under the special California program, VW service technicians check all post-1967 model VWs after routine engine adjustments, after mechanical repairs are made to the powerplants and after repairs are completed on collision-damaged vehicles.

"This way," Metz said, "we can be certain that Volkswagens are kept well within the limits set forth in the nation's Clean Air Act."

Highway Robbery Warning

Most of us who own cars have fallen prey at one time or another to the unscrupulous mechanic---the one who tells you your car needs a certain part when it really doesn't.

The real problem is that today cars are too sophisticated for the average person to even begin to understand.

When the mechanic says some part needs replacing or some repairs must be done, the owner is in no position to argue.

But there are a few guidelines that may save you from having unnecessary repairs performed on your car.

One of the most common things on which car owners get bilked is ball joints, says the California State Automobile Association. The routine goes something like this:

You take your car in to have the front end aligned or perhaps to have the brakes re-lined. Before very long the mechanic calls you and says the ball joints are worn and must be replaced.

In most cases when a car did need new ball joints, it was because the owner had neglected routine lubrication.

While ball joints do not require much attention, it is important that they are serviced in accordance with car manufacturers' recommendations.

All manufacturers have a recommended procedure for checking ball joints on the various models they produce. These procedures are more detailed and complex than merely jacking up the front of the car and wiggling the wheel.

Certain axial and radial tolerances are built into ball joints and these tolerances can only be accurately measured by equipment designed for ball joint testing.

So what do you do when that mechanic tells you that your car needs new ball joints? You should ask for a full explanation of how the mechanic arrived at his recommendation. He should first show you what the factory specifications are regarding tolerances for ball joints on your car, then tell you what the tolerances actually are on your car. You should also ask him if test equipment was used in measuring these tolerances. If he is unable or unwilling to do this, better take your car to another mechanic or garage.

More Cars Are Stopped by New Noise Law

The new California motor vehicle anti-noise law by the 1970 Legislature has resulted in an increase in the percentage of automobiles and motorcycles being stopped by the California Highway Patrol for excessive noise.

According to the Highway Patrol, 4.9 percent of the motorcycles measured for noise in January and February this year were found to be in violation of the anti-noise law as compared to 2.1 percent of those measured in all of 1970.

Among motor vehicles weighing less than 6,000 pounds (mostly passenger cars and pickups) measured during that period, 2.3 percent were found to be louder than the law allows as compared with one half of one percent in 1970.

The Legislature last year reduced the limits of allowable noise for motorcycles from 88 decibels to 82 decibels while they are ridden in speed zones posted for 35 miles per hour or less and from 90 to 86 decibels in speed zones of over 35 miles per hour.

Noise limits of motor vehicles with a gross weight rating of 6,000 pounds or less were changed from 82 to 76 decibels within speed zones of 35 miles per hour or less and from 86 to 82 decibels in speed zones of more than 35 miles per hour.

Violations of the anti-noise statute can occur, according to the CHP, from modified or defective exhaust systems or from improper driving habits such as gunning the engine or driving at excessive speeds.

The Legislature lowered the limits of allowable noise to current levels after a study showed motorcycles and passenger cars, including pickups, exceeded those levels only if they were improperly driven or if the exhaust system was faulty or modified.
